

RANDOLPH®

RANDOLPH®

HANDCRAFTED AMERICAN EYEWEAR

26 Thomas Patten Drive | Randolph, MA 02368 | 781.961.6070 | randolphusa.com

Randolph word mark and icon are registered trademarks of Randolph Engineering, Inc.

Special thanks to the Westfield Barnes Regional Airport, Westfield MA

AT FIRST SIGHT

At first sight it's a gorgeous pair of glasses. It's an American-born heritage and a process that has been refined and honed over four decades. It's a brand culture built on timeless styles that transcend trend, and represent the finest quality. It's craftsmanship you can trust and we can stand firmly behind. It's unbridled potential. At first sight, it's love.

AMERICAN BORN

In 1972, two engineers emigrating from Poland opened an optical tool and machinery factory in Randolph, Massachusetts. With a tireless work ethic and determination, they transitioned the company to an elite eyewear manufacturer, eventually winning contracts with the US Air Force to produce military spec aviator sunglasses. As the demand for quality, American-heritage products increased, Randolph Engineering—a leading tool maker in the thriving eyewear manufacturing industry—rose to the occasion. The company progressed to the retail market, introducing the Randolph brand with a full line of eyewear. The machinery and tooling, built by hand four decades ago is still utilized in our factory today.

Today, we remain a family owned and operated company, three generations later. Our founders' legacy of integrity, hard work and respect—for our team, our community and our environment—has shaped every one of our brand initiatives and our brand culture as a whole.

A sampling of hand held tools still used by our American artisan workforce, in our factory today.

Randolph Engineering founded by Jan Waszkiewicz and Stanley Zaleski in Randolph, Massachusetts.

1972

High performance Ranger Eyewear brand is introduced to the shotgun sports market

Awarded optical frame contract for US Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines, Coast Guard and NASA

2000

1992

Randolph featured in Men's Health, GQ, Vanity Fair, Esquire and variety of fashion forward publications

2012

US Military & Allied Air Forces contracts Randolph to produce Aviator sunglasses

1982

Renewed focus in the lifestyle market with a timeless, classic product line

2004

1990

The Randolph brand is unveiled as a new product line with the same precision and quality, for style conscious consumer

2014

We continue to expand product lines and remain committed to maintaining American production efforts

2008

Randolph glasses hit Hollywood on A-list celebrities and in major blockbuster films

1978

Produces eyewear as subcontractor for US Military, transitioning from optical tool & machinery factory to elite eyewear manufacturer

TODAY: We are proud to be the only remaining metal eyewear manufacturer in the USA.

BRAND CULTURE

The Randolph brand is not just about creating the finest crafted eyewear. It's about seeing the bigger picture and acknowledging that though "Made in the USA" makes a difference, made well in the USA makes the biggest difference. It's about having the foresight to know that it's not just a pair of glasses, it's a promise—to remain invested in our country, our artisans and our heritage. Randolph is the iconic American eyewear manufacturer.

Chris is wearing our Concorde in bright chrome frame finish, gray glass lenses and skull temple

RANDOLPH IS:

quality
smart american classic timeless craft optimistic

RANDOLPH IS:

strength
fashion
integrity
style authentic comfort confident

Our flagship Aviator in gun metal frame finish, gray glass lenses and signature bayonet temple

OUR PROCESS

Attention to detail is an understatement when it comes to describing our product and our process. It is a labor of love. Every single pair of Randolph glasses goes through more than 200 production stages. This is the only way we can ensure unequaled strength and durability as well as joint integrity. We combine the craftsmanship of yesterday with the technologies of today to render comfort and style harmoniously.

All of our metal frame glasses are designed, developed and handcrafted here in the US by one of the finest teams of trained artisans. For us, there are no shortcuts and quality is never ever compromised—down to the smallest detail. Even our 23K gold plating is beyond the industry standard thickness. In fact, we go above and beyond both industry and military standards, in every aspect, for the finest quality every time.

---

“When it comes to aviators, we’re usually interested in two qualities—understated design and authenticity. Randolph features both.”

GQ MAGAZINE

Chris is wearing our Intruder in 23K Gold
Emily is wearing our Aviator in 23K Gold

Our Milton frame in brown acetate with stylized wire core and skull temple style

TIMELESS STYLE

Our designs are rooted in form following function—our product line demonstrates the perfect marriage of comfort and style. We differentiate ourselves from the competition because we remain distinctive and sophisticated. We rise above trend to define the very best classic, timeless look. With a variety of customizations, you can choose size, finish, lens features, and temple design. Any time, any outfit, Randolph glasses will complement your character—speaking volumes about who you are. It is a statement that goes beyond just appearance.

With Randolph, you are combining great taste with great values. In addition to our hand crafted metal collections, we design and develop eyewear using high-grade acetates and other plastic compounds typically not found in the USA. These products are manufactured by our supply partners in Italy and other regions of the world under our close supervision. Final assembly, quality inspection, packaging, and fulfillment for ALL our products are handled by our factory and distribution center in Randolph, Massachusetts, USA.

OUR GUARANTEE

Purchasing a pair of our glasses is the beginning of a life long relationship. We care about service at every point of contact and we stand behind our product with a lifetime warranty for every pair. That is a promise we are proud to make. We may not be the biggest, but we constantly strive to be the very best—we know who we are, and we remain fully committed to every aspect of our brand.

Emily is wearing our Ashby in olive frame finish and skull temple

---

“A classic line with an authentic heritage that has never ceased to produce eyewear in the USA.”

SELECTISM

Chris is wearing our flagship Aviator in bright chrome frame finish, gray glass lenses and signature bayonet temple

UNBRIDLED POTENTIAL

At Randolph, integrity is as important as profit. We make it a point to partner with like-minded individuals and corporations. Thus, we are as selective with our retailers as we are with the products that carry our name—only the very best will do.

You have the opportunity to join us for the next chapter, as we break away from being the best kept secret in the industry. We will increase brand awareness and engage with a broader consumer base, always inspirational, and always true to ourselves.

Of course we love what we do. But, we're just as confident that should you partner with us—you'll love what we do. Let's get started today.

Over 90% of company revenues are generated from eyewear made in our Massachusetts, USA factory

